

“Upsetting the World for Christ”

Acts 17:1-15

The Problem:

Our world makes it easy to fall into an easy,
_____ style of Christianity.

1. The world needs the Gospel's _____.
2. God uses his committed followers to turn the world _____ !
3. To upset the world for Christ, God uses the _____ of the gospel.
 - a. The gospel centers on the _____ and _____ of Jesus Christ.
 - b. The confrontation centers on our _____ and _____ against Jesus as King.
4. Our only right response is _____ Faith.
 - a. We must verify the truth by _____ the _____ .
 - b. We _____ by following Jesus as Lord, no matter the cost.

“Upsetting the World for Christ”

Acts 17:1-15

The Problem:

Our world makes it easy to fall into an easy,
_____ style of Christianity.

1. The world needs the Gospel's _____.
2. God uses his committed followers to turn the world _____ !
3. To upset the world for Christ, God uses the _____ of the gospel.
 - a. The gospel centers on the _____ and _____ of Jesus Christ.
 - b. The confrontation centers on our _____ and _____ against Jesus as King.
4. Our only right response is _____ Faith.
 - a. We must verify the truth by _____ the _____ .
 - b. We _____ by following Jesus as Lord, no matter the cost.

Questions for the Week

1. The people in Thessalonica accused Paul of "turning the world upside down" (Acts 17:6). In what ways should the gospel still disrupt our lives and the culture around us today? What might that look like in your workplace, school, neighborhood, or family?
2. "Comfortable Christianity" looks and acts differently than a wholehearted commitment to Christ. What are some comforts, priorities, or habits that can compete with Christ for first place in our lives? How can we grow in deeper devotion to Him?
3. The Bereans eagerly examined the Scriptures to see if Paul's message was true (Acts 17:11). Why is it important for every Christian to test what they hear against God's Word? What are some practical ways you can become more like the Bereans?
4. The gospel calls us not only to believe in Jesus as Savior but also to follow Him as Lord, whatever the cost. What might faithful obedience require of you in this season of life? Is there an area where Christ is calling you to greater trust or surrender?

Questions for the Week

1. The people in Thessalonica accused Paul of "turning the world upside down" (Acts 17:6). In what ways should the gospel still disrupt our lives and the culture around us today? What might that look like in your workplace, school, neighborhood, or family?
2. "Comfortable Christianity" looks and acts differently than a wholehearted commitment to Christ. What are some comforts, priorities, or habits that can compete with Christ for first place in our lives? How can we grow in deeper devotion to Him?
3. The Bereans eagerly examined the Scriptures to see if Paul's message was true (Acts 17:11). Why is it important for every Christian to test what they hear against God's Word? What are some practical ways you can become more like the Bereans?
4. The gospel calls us not only to believe in Jesus as Savior but also to follow Him as Lord, whatever the cost. What might faithful obedience require of you in this season of life? Is there an area where Christ is calling you to greater trust or surrender?